President's Message

CPA President

Ann Beardall

One more successful Meet and Greet is in the books!

On April 11, 2015, approximately 200 aviation minded people met in the Legacy Air hangar at BJC for the Colorado Aviation Meet and Greet. It was a perfect spring day in Colorado and to prove it, we had 40+ planes fly in for the event. We had aircraft representing many brands, shapes, vintages and sizes. It was fun to walk around on the ramp and see the variety of planes and pilots!

I owe many thanks to the folks who worked to make this event happen, from Rick Marceaux at Legacy Air for hosting us in his maintenance hangar, to Jessica Freeman of the CAAA (Colorado Agricultural Aviation Assoc.) for leading the Round Table on safely sharing airspace with UAS operators, to Dian Renick and the Flight Deck Grill for the delicious food and Bart Whitehouse with his incredible collection of antique avionics. All the folks who came out and helped set everything up and the guys on the ramp marshalling the planes in and out. I am truly grateful for all the help and participation. Events like this cannot happen without many hands pitching in and many folks volunteering time and resources to the Association.

We successfully collected a number of upcoming events on our calendars which will be added to the CPA calendar in the next few weeks. Once the spread sheet of events is compiled, we will send a copy of that to the membership for your records as well. If you were unable to attend and know of events this summer, please either send the information to us or go onto the CPA calendar and enter it there. The plan is to also submit the events to Social Flight in an attempt to help boost participation across the state.

I think I remind you of this almost every month, but since the flying season is getting underway, please join us for the great fly-ins that are posted on the website. If you need a refresher, check the schedule for the mountain flying courses and look for opportunities to share a ride or invite someone along to one or more of the events. It's a great time to encourage flight!

On a separate note, I believe most of you know that in addition to serving as the CPA president, I also represent you and all Colorado pilots on the Colorado

State Aeronautical Board. In both capacities, I would love to hear your thoughts and ideas on what is going on in aviation in our state. I am particularly interested in hearing your thoughts on what issues are most important to you as well as all the great things you are doing out there.

I hope to see you out flying!
Ann

Peggy Long

It is with great sorrow I wish to share with the CPA members the demise of Peggy Long, who passed away from cancer on 15 April 2015.

She was a long-time CPA member, owned a Cessna 210, flew the Jackpot Classic a number of times (receiving several trophies) and participated in a number of CPA fly-ins - not the least of which was flying down to Nicaragua and Guatemala as PIC in her plane. She was a member of the 99's, AOPA and the Cessna Pilots' Association and held a Commercial Pilot certificate with Instrument rating having logged +/- 1,300 hours. She also served on the Board of Directors of the Colorado Pilots' Association as treasurer for a number of years.

Per her request, any donation in her name - "Peggy A. Long, class of '68" - may be made to:

Department of Music
101 Goodwin Hall

In the memo line, put "Band Fund"

Thank you,

CPA Member Rick Durden WINNER of the 2015 Endeavor Award

Congratulations to our CPA member Rick Durden on winning this prestigious award! See the full press release here:

www.endeavorawards.org/2015-endeavor-awards-recipients-announced

2015 marks the 25th year Rick Durden has been flying for conservation as a volunteer pilot with LightHawk. In that time he has made well over 500 flights in support of protection of natural resources in the U.S. as well as in the countries of Mexico, Belize, Costa Rica and Panama. Because LightHawk works in partnership with others as part of its mission, his flights have helped support activities of other nonprofit organizations seeking to protect endangered lands and uncover illegal activities that could not be seen from ground survey. One of those flights exposed the activities of a Chicago politician who was taking money for running a recycling facility but was dumping the materials to be recycled in a field that was enclosed by tall fences and trees. He has flown people from all walks of life, including local and national politicians, scientists, community leaders, members of the media, activists on each side of pending environmental issues, students and teachers over lands and waters at risk.

In addition to volunteer flying for conservation, Rick regularly gives presentations to groups about LightHawk and the importance of its work for conservation. After a series of flights over the Mark Twain National Forest he gave a presentation to a watershed association and showed photos of the effects of lead mining in the National Forest. Employees of the Missouri Division of Environmental Quality were in the audience. They approached Rick about his flights and asked for copies of photos that showed piles of chemical drums. Those photos were used to start an investigation into illegal dumping of toxic chemicals that resulted in a fine of $300,000 being levied against a mining company. Half of the fine money went to the local schools, where a number of children suffer from learning disabilities due to lead poisoning in the water.

In addition to flying as a volunteer pilot for LightHawk, Rick served as a member of its Board of Directors for more than 10 years. Currently Rick is a member of the Board of Directors of the Air Care Alliance, the umbrella organization supporting all public benefit flying. He was on the committee that worked with AOPA's Air Safety Institute after the NTSB raised the issue of safety in public benefit flying and assisted with the creation of the online public benefit flying safety course that is now being used by volunteer pilots throughout the country.

Rick holds an ATP with type ratings in the Douglas DC-3 and Cessna 500 series; is a CFI and has flown over 200 different types of aircraft. He is the author of The Thinking Pilot's Flight Manual or, How to Survive Flying Little Airplanes and Have a Ball Doing It, Vol. I. Vol II is due out soon.

NTSB Safety Alerts

NTSB just recently issued a video safety alert highlighting the extra vigilance that pilots should take in doing preflight inspections prior to a first flight after maintenance work. You may view this video and others at <http://go.usa.gov/3ZYDH>.

The PDF versions of all the Safety Alerts are also available at this site.

Kansas City Here We Come!

Yep, that's the title for the CPA-sponsored fly-in to Kansas City May 29 - 31, 2015. This trip is not one to miss! There is so much to see and do in Kansas City it's astonishing. Don't miss the opportunity to fly to one of the more unique general aviation airports in the country--Wheeler Downtown Airport (KMKC). Visit the National Airline Museum, WWI Memorial, Union Station, Hallmark Card Museum, and the American Jazz Museum. Oh My Gosh!!! Fill out the registration form included in this issue of FLIGHT LINES right now!

You'll call the luxurious Sheraton Suites Country Club Plaza your home-away-from-home during your stay. This Sheraton Suites is noted for its proximity to the upscale Country Club Plaza which is the world's first shopping center designed to accommodate shoppers arriving by automobile.

Have you attended one of the CPA annual membership meetings that were held on several occasions at the Denver Roth Distributing showrooms in the past five years or so? If you have, you know of the opulent atmosphere Roth Distributing creates with it's display kitchens. Now, step that up several levels and you can guess what's in store for CPA members attending the private, Roth-sponsored cocktail party & hors d'oeuvre in their recently opened K.C. showroom located nearly across the street from the Sheraton. CPA's own John Thielen, CEO at Roth, has graciously offered to host us for this Friday evening event welcoming us to Kansas City.

No visit to Kansas City would be complete without experiencing the city's world famous BBQ. So, to really expose the group to K.C. eating, we've contracted with "KC Barbecue Tours" to take us on one of their combination history and BBQ restaurant tours. Two meals in one night should satisfy even the heartiest eater's appetite. One's mouth starts to water just thinking of that BBQ.

Bonus Session: Since it's hard to capture all there is to see and do in Kansas City in a three day visit, we're offering a bonus package for those who want to arrive one day early to tour the Harley Davidson manufacturing plant. Don't be fooled. We've spoken to people who've had this free tour that describe it as one of the most remarkable tours they've ever taken. Why not give it a try and arrive a day early on May 28?

We look forward to seeing you in Kansas City, May 29 - 31, 2015.
