"But I don't have a PayPal Account"

When CPA switched over to the new website, part of that process also included a new accounting system. The new accounting system allows for an online payment that goes through PayPal. The biggest issue most members are running into is "I don't have a PayPal account." This is totally understandable and very reasonable. Fortunately you don't have to have a PayPal account to still pay online with a credit card. PayPal is merely the merchant handling the transaction and you don't have to create a PayPal account in order to continue on the CPA website. Continue on page 7 where you will find the step-by-step process. Or if you prefer to see it live, click on this link to go to the FAQ page.

President's Transmission

I wonder how many of you are having the same trouble I am keeping up with today's technology. I earned my instrument rating long before the first IFR GPS showed up. To say that I was a late adaptor would be an understatement. I wasn't exactly a luddite as I did have a much loved early hand-held GPS. But I was happy and comfortable with my hard wired VOR/ILS/ADF, that is, until my approaches started disappearing in favor of RNAV approaches. Finally, 10 years ago, and 15 years after they first came out, I got my first IFR GPS and I've been challenged to keep up ever since. Keeping current and confident used to be easy and fun but now I still struggle with the intricate button pushing necessary to make this magic black box work for me in new situations. During the same time the IFR system has changed at lightning speed with the adaption of new technology which has certainly made the system easier to use than the old days but the issue for me is keeping up with all these changes. Fortunately, there is help for us who are challenged to keep up. Here are a few resources I have found to be educational and entertaining. Every month I look forward to my subscriptions to IFR REFRESHER (1-800-829-9156) and IFR: The Magazine for The Accomplished Pilot (1-800-786-3454). Both these magazines are published by Belvoir Aviation Group LLC ($60/yr for each) and have insightful articles on various aspects of instrument flying and the ATC system that are informative and well written plus they have quizzes that will challenge your knowledge base and keep your head in the game. The next thing I have really enjoyed and found helpful is my monthly subscription to IFR MASTERY ($20/month) produced by PILOTS WORKSHOP which you can access through AOPA or Google it. Every month they produce a new video scenario of an IFR situation and make you decide how you would respond followed by a knowledgeable discussion of the strengths and weakness of various responses. These are situations any of us could find ourselves in and allows us to think through the ramifications and make a decision that may be useful in the future. Then of course there is computer simulation but I haven't yet gone down the rabbit hole yet although that is probably where I'm headed in the future. But for now these are what I know about and I feel they are doing a good job of keeping me abreast of what's going on. If you are feeling left behind I think these would be good places to start getting caught up again. Now if I could just whip that magic box into shape and control the plane at the same time I'd feel like I was really on top of things.

“Let’s Fly Now!”

Looking for a volunteer opportunity?

October 12th, 0900-1200 at Cutter Aviation at KCOS

“Let’s Fly Now” is an opportunity for 99s and other volunteer pilots to share their passion for aviation and inspire a new generation to: EXPLORE the wonders of aviation; DISCOVER the magic of flight; and IMAGINE the possibilities for their future.

The Colorado Chapter is hosting “Let’s Fly Now” at Cutter Aviation at KCOS. “Let’s Fly Now” is a FREE introductory flight program offered by The Ninety-Nines, International Organization of Women Pilots; Friends of The 99s and other volunteers who will provide their plane, fuel, and time to take females of flying age on their first flight and show them the joys of flying. (Young ladies, young gentlemen, women and men will also be welcome for a first flight.)

We are looking for additional volunteer pilots. To sign up contact: Lydia Baldwin at LydiaHBaldwin@gmail.com. Deadline for pilots to sign up is October 1st.

A limited number of spots are available for participants. Passengers or a parent/legal guardian will be required to sign a waiver of liability form prior to participating in a flight. Passengers will sign up in advance. Additional information via Colorado 99s website. This event will be a fun collaboration with members of the Pikes Peak chapter and a joyful way to introduce youth to flying. We are looking for a few volunteers to support the event. In addition to pilots, volunteers will be needed to provide a pre-flight safety briefing; conduct safe escort of passengers to and from each plane; coordinate giving log books and certificates to passengers; and helping with the registration.

Final Fly-in! Cody, Wyoming

Bob and Shawn Kinney are hosting the final, official CPA fly-in of the 2019 season October 11 - 13, 2019. Join us for a visit to the town that Buffalo Bill Cody made famous. Cody was founded by Colonel William F. "Buffalo Bill" Cody, who passed through the region in the 1870s. He was so impressed by the many development possibilities that he returned in the mid-1890s to start a town.

Cody is located along the Shoshone River and is nestled at the foot of the Beartooth Mountains. Cody and the surrounding areas boast superb scenery and many areas fit for a variety of outdoor activities. As a popular tourist destination, Cody has many fantastic restaurants, shopping locations, art galleries, museums, and businesses.

Following our arrival on Friday afternoon October 11, and lunch & ice cream at Annie's Soda Saloon, our intrepid CPA fly-in group is slated to visit the Heart Mountain Interpretive Center/Museum. (Admission Adults $9 & Seniors $7). This world-class museum is dedicated to passing on the Heart Mountain story to future generations. Through photographs, artifacts, oral histories, and interactive exhibits, guests to the Center experience life at Heart Mountain through the eyes of those Japanese and Japanese Americans who were confined here during WWII. The "Heart Mountain Relocation Center" opened in August 1942 and imprisoned more than 14,000 people during its three-year existence. The last of the imprisoned left Wyoming in November 1945. A late Friday afternoon return to Cody will allow time to relax or walk downtown Cody prior to the world famous CPA Happy Hour scheduled that evening at the hotel.

Saturday morning the Cody EAA has offered to play host to our Colorado CPA members for an airport pancake breakfast followed by its local members opening their hangars for a "show and tell" session. The rest of the day will be spent at the primary venue that drew us to Cody. . .The Buffalo Bill Center of the West. Admission Adults $19.25 & Seniors $18.25). This conglomeration of five wonderful museums under one roof is remarkable. Center stage is the renowned Cody Firearms Museum which re-opened in July following a two year renovation. Do the research, there's none finer. The Whitney Gallery of Western Art, the Plains Indian Museum, the Buffalo Bill Museum, and the Draper Museum of Natural History round out the offerings of the BBCW. There truly is something for everyone at this remarkable facility. Happy hour back at the Holiday Inn will be so very welcome following this long day of exploring the West. A BYOB happy hour will be the prelude to our fine group dining experience at Buffalo Bill's "Irma Hotel Restaurant & Saloon". How do we follow that up? Bed time baby. . .bed time! After breakfast Sunday morning, we'll make the normal early CPA departure for home and say goodbye to another memorable CPA fly-in experience. It's a scenic flight back to "Colorful Colorado" but the memories will last a lifetime.

What great fly-in season we're having. Now, if we can just impose on the Wyoming and Colorado weather gods for one last bit of good aviation weather, it would be the topper for a great fly-in season. Join us, won't you? You'll never find better friends than those CPA members you share your flying destinations with.
